SCHOLARSHIPS AVAILABLE FOR YOUNG PEOPLE'S CLASSES AT THE CLEVELAND MUSEUM OF ART

A limited number of scholarships are still available for Saturday Classes for Young People at The Cleveland Museum of Art. A dozen different art classes are included in the Saturday morning and afternoon sessions for young people between the ages of 3 and 17 which begin on October 4 and run through December 13, 1980. Morning classes are held from 9:30 to 11:00 and afternoon classes from 1:30 to 3:00. Requests for scholarships, with special consideration given to those needing financial assistance, may be made by calling James A. Birch in the Museum's Art History and Education Department at 421-7340, extension 378.

Saturday classes, which are open to children of Museum members and non-members alike, are designed to develop art appreciation in young people by emphasizing the many ways of looking at works of art in the Museum's various collections. Students are encouraged to express their observations through the creation of their own works of art.

Participants are grouped according to age in a broad range of choices from drawing, painting, and sculpture through classes related to the Museum's exhibition, The Realist Tradition: French Painting and Drawing 1830-1900, which will be on view at the Museum from November 12, 1980 through January 18, 1981.

Course fee is $5.00 for Museum members and $10.00 for non-members payable at the time of registration. Museum membership can be obtained through the Museum's Membership Department either in person or by calling 421-7340, extension 276. To begin class, each young person must be registered by a parent or adult, in person, at the Museum. Children do not have to be present at the time of registration which will remain open until the first day of classes.
